DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Pianezza (US 4095090).

Pianezza discloses a vessel for heating comprising a concave body 12 including a bottom portion and an upwardly extending sidewall, a handle 39 attached to and projecting from said sidewall of said concave body, said handle including an internal compartment 51 for containing therein at least one battery, a removably securable cap for closing said internal compartment and sealing from an external environment any batteries placed within said internal compartment; and a plurality of coils embedded within said concave body, in the side and bottom [column 1, line 4] and forming an electrical circuit with said batteries whereby heat is generated in said coils heating the contents through heat generated in said coils. With respect to the functioning of the unit when not level, applicant has not disclosed such a limitation in the original disclosure. Regardless of applicant's failure to provide antecedent basis in the specification for the claimed limitation, it is noted that the Pianezza device will in fact work properly even when not perfectly level. Since applicant has not provided any discussion of this limitation in the specification, the meaning of level is read to mean perfectly level. Clearly the Pianezza device with work properly on any incline that does not promote sliding of the device off of the surface on which it is placed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pianezza (US 4095090).

Pianezza discloses the claimed invention except the dual levels of heating. It is generally well known in the art of electric heating to provide multiple levels of heating and to control the activation of those levels via a switch means. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the device of Pianezza to include a switch to provide multiple levels of heating in order to enable heating the contents to different temperatures or at different rates as it was well known in the art at the time, and to provide such means on the handle of the device either integrally with the on/off switch or with separate switches for high and medium settings. Since applicant did not seasonably challenge the examiners assertion that such modification is well known in the art, such modification is now considered admitted prior art.

Art Unit: 3742

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
